

SECOND HARVEST
of SILICON VALLEY

Recalled Items

Let's work together to ensure that our clients receive safe and high-quality food! Recalled food items must be handled promptly and NEVER handed out to clients.

Occasionally site leaders will receive an email from Second Harvest of Silicon Valley announcing that a recall has been issued. It is unlikely that you will receive these food items as we typically remove them before they leave our warehouse. However, they may come directly from a donor (such as a Grocery Rescue partner), in an "unsorted" bin and sometimes we miss an item in the warehouse. If you receive a recalled item, here is an easy guide to identify the item and inform clients.

1. IDENTIFYING AN ITEM:

Match identifying marks on product with the product notice details, such as:

- Product
- Brand
- Lot Number
- Container Size

2. MAKE INFORMATION VISIBLE TO ALL:

Please post the email you receive from us, including photos of the recalled items in a location visible to clients

3. DISPOSE OF THE PRODUCT:

- Do not puncture or otherwise open cans
- Wash hands with warm water and soap after handling the product
